A LOYAL SERENADE.

The Chiefs in Walting-The Comet Star Screnaders, Speeches by Messes. Bowen and Pillsbury-The Mayor and the Labor Question-Remarkable Manœuvres-How it Ended-"Dem Niggers Gwine to Licker Up."

of colored men marching in military order, under command of an epartletted black captain, and rejoicing in the name of the "Comet Star Light Infantry," repaired with martial music to the office of Three-thousand-dollar Corbin, in Broad, near King street, where several of the harmonious magnates of the Republican party, fully charged with whiskey and cloquence, were patiently awaiting a serenade. The company was drawn up in line on the edge of the pavement, and the music of the band soon gathered a crowd of perhaps two hundred men, women and boys with few exceptions of the same color as the in appropriately termed light infantry. When our reporter reached the scene the first peakers had had their say-among whom we carned was the valuant captor of Fort Sumter now the loyal A 'jutant and inspector-General of the State. Young Moses addressed the assemblage in his usual dorid, patriotic and disinter-ested style, and was loudly claered. The band then struck up "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" in lively style, which led our reporter to anticipate a speech from the ponderous Inspector of Streets-but this was not to be. Instead, there were loud calls for "llowen," "llowen," in re-sponse to which the immaculate M. C. appeared at the window and returned thanks for the compli ment which the "gentlemen (sie) of the Comet Star Light Infantry" had paid him. He assured them that he would take occasion to address his con that in a very few days, in vindication of hicourse. With this cheering and liberal promise be excused himself from any further remarks. Another tune from the band followed, after which there was a discord of entlassiastic, but wholly unintelligible, shouts for various parties who were wanted to make the next speech Finally, somebody managed to sound the name of "old Gilbert Pillsbury" in stentorian tones above the tumuit, and our accommodating poked his head from an upper w. He spoke for about ten minutes, ening with the mild suggestion that me of his hearers were probably laborers opening with ideed, he would venture to say most of them were laborers. He then launched out into a glo rification of the rights and of the nobility of labor in general, and of his own persistent and unselfish devotion to the labor interest in particu-iar, concluding with congratulations addressed to the crowd on the great triumph which the la revolution which the last few days had witnesses in this city in connection with the labor question. These remarks, of course, were hailed with loud acclamations of delight.

Another tune by the band-"Company, right "Touch elbows on the right!" face!" "Forward, March!" "File Right!" And then the black squads went marching and counermarching in the middle of the street, their leader meantime whisking about his sword in a very dangerous fashion, and finally giving satisfactory evidence of his proficiency in manageryres by bringing his command in single file to the front door of the Corbin wigwam, the "gentlemen of the Comet Star Light Infantry" filed gallantly in; for what our reporter would not have suspected, but for the volunteered suggestion of an unmilitary but knowing darkey, who shrewdly surmised that "dem niggers was gwine to

At this stage of the proceedings the assemblage left, and it is to be presumed that the Comet Star serenade shortly thereafter fizzled out.

He was carried before Captain Hendricks Attorney, &c., D. T. Corbin was on hand, and offered to take the same bond which was required at the previous arrest, which Mr. Averill declined to give. Mr. Averill then applied through his counsel, Messrs. The City Attorney read the return to the writs, and argued that the arrest was legal, claiming that Mr. Averill had violated
